About RX Recruitment

Your Local Company with a Global Reach

RX Recruitment is uniquely positioned to handle all of your staffing needs. With extensive experience in healthcare recruitment both locally and internationally, we make it our goal to understand your criteria, work environment, and ideal employee.

We source top international talent while actively seeking local talent right here at home in Singapore.

Committed to the Very Best Outcomes

At RX Recruitment, we understand what motivates people to consider opportunities abroad and at home. More importantly, we have an in-depth understanding of the process of getting people from A to B with as few surprises as possible.

From advertising, short listing candidates, interviews, registration with statutory bodies, to relocation and employment passes, we handle it all. Our dedicated Compliance Team will guide both candidates and clients through the entire recruitment process.

Everything we do is designed to make the recruitment process as smooth as possible, ensuring that your new employee arrives on time and ready to start work.

The Best Talent Local and International

RX Recruitment has access to a vast pool of talent locally and across the globe. Through our extensive networks, combined with our in depth understanding of the industry, finding the perfect candidates to fill your vacancies has never been easier.

Our portfolio of services include:

- Recruitment of staff – local and international
- Recruitment of Professional, Managerial and Executive staff
- Compliance Management and Relocation Services

Our Divisions

Our Divisions span a wide spectrum of professional recruitment.

Our Financial Division specialises in providing you with highly skilled banking and financial services professionals on a permanent basis. By leveraging our local presence and global reach, RX Recruitment will quickly become an integral part of your recruitment solution.

Getting attention and gaining the access you need to ensure your staffing needs are met is made all the easier using the extensive knowledge and global reach of our Healthcare Division. Medical practitioners, nurses and allied health professionals, local or international, we have the solution.

The Life Sciences Division operates across all aspects of clinical development and post-approval. Our consultants recruit for the biotechnology, generics, CRO, and medical device industries, although our services are in no way limited to these.

If you are seeking staff for your industrial enterprise, then our Industrial Division will be pleased to provide you with the perfect solutions. Covering all sectors including Mining, Resources and Energy, Manufacturing, Transport and Logistics, our consultants draw on our local and global connections to locate the talent you need.

RX Recruitment will seek out IT professionals that are at the forefront of their field. Whether you are seeking an individual with specific expertise, or looking for an entire professional team, our Technology Division is here to assist you to keep your projects on track in this constantly evolving industry.

Working in partnership with universities, schools and businesses, RX Recruitment provides our clients access to qualified teaching staff and managers. We are committed to finding the perfect fit for your organisation both professionally and culturally.

Our consultants would be delighted to discuss how we could help you find staff.
